The Year . . .

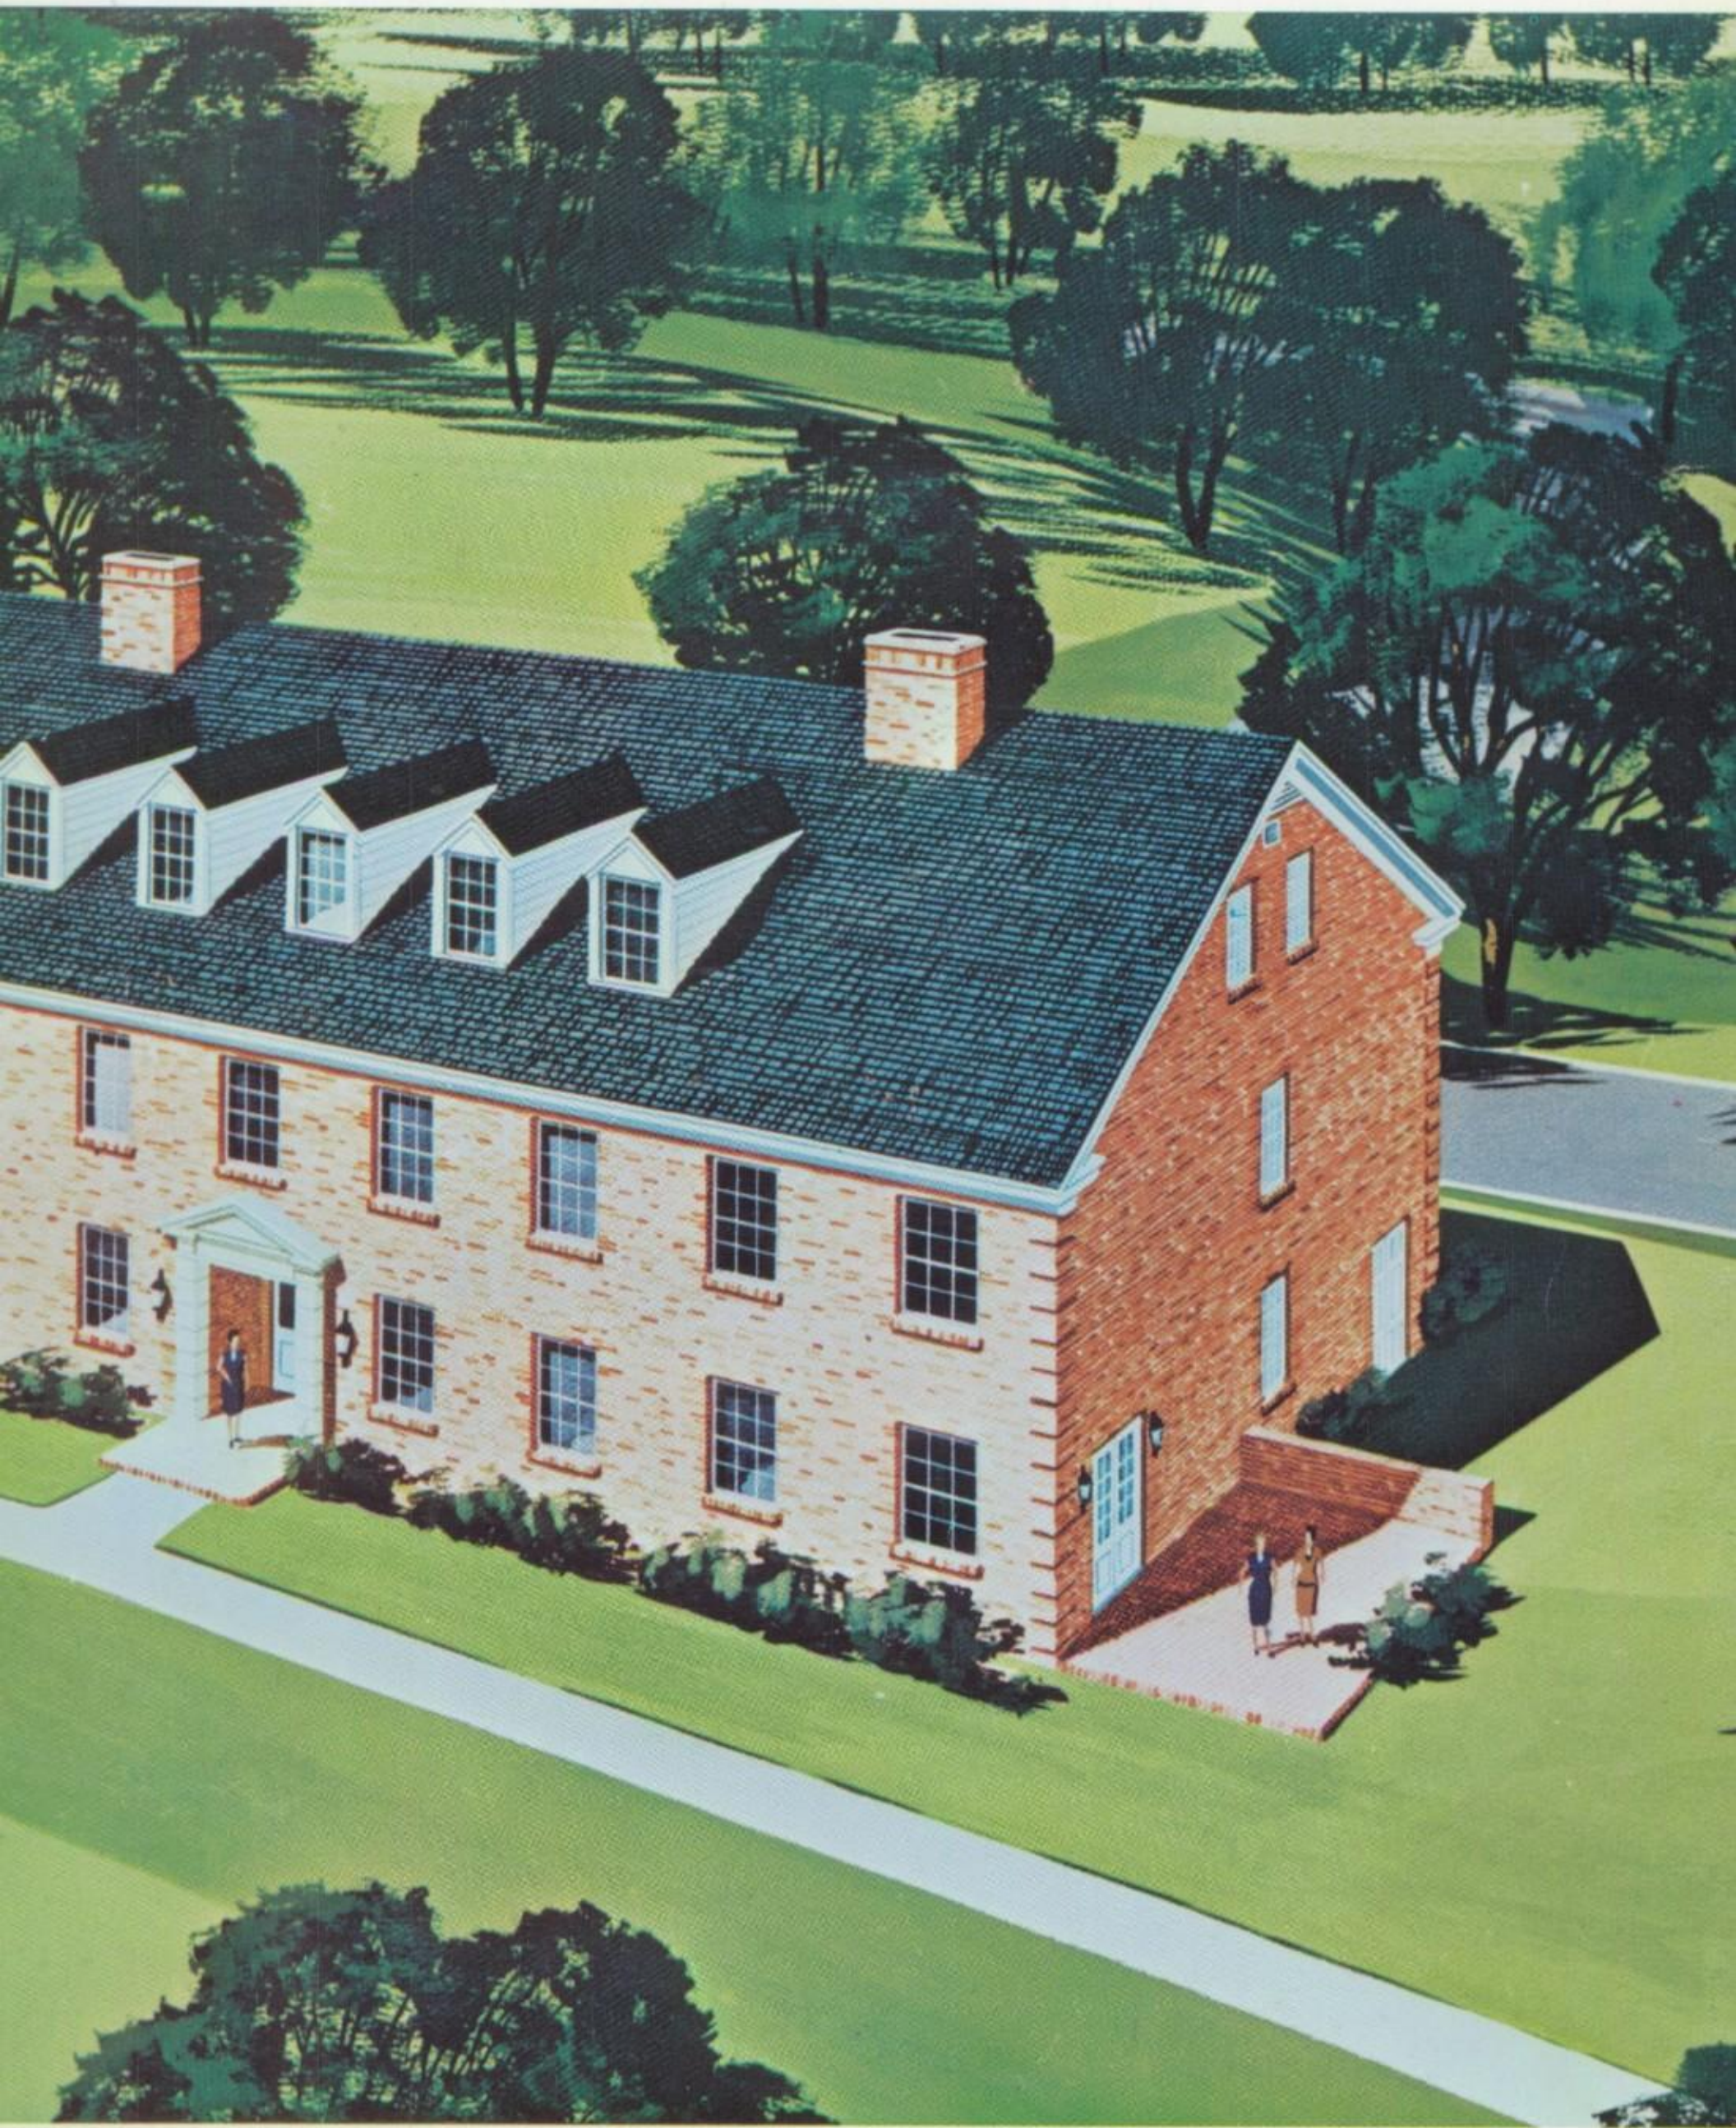

In many respects the year 1963-64 has been just like the years of the past. There have been the same water fights and senior raids; the same tension as exams draw near; the same excitement and impatience as holidays come; the same seeming monotony of the daily schedule; the same complaining about teachers, food and tests; The same traditions; and most of the same people.

Yet this year was distinctly different from any before it. This was the year of change at All Saints'. Not only was there the change in faculty and students but also change in the actual physical layout of the school—change which caused much worry, some inconvenience, and a great deal of eager expectation.

There were changes, too, in the academic policies of the school which brought more rigid academic requirements. These changes produced much more reading, an abundance of paper-back books, and groans on the part of the students.

But change cannot really affect the basic components of a year—the people. From a roommate to a friend down the hall, or from a teacher to a boy you only see on weekends—all combine to form experiences and memories which will be the heart of the year. It is the people that we seek to capture in these pages.

This Was A Year of Progress

This was the year of progress at All Saints'. Progress of this sort brought many expected and unexpected things: shacks and sheds, mud and litter, worry, hope, anticipation, discomfort, and new arrangements, noise and traffic, and, above all, the realization of part of a long range goal for a new All Saints'.

The most apparent indication of progress was the construction and completion of the three new dormitories. They brought a long period of eager expectation, the excitement of choosing a new room, and the eventual pandemonium of moving day.

The construction of the new dormitories, however, was only a segment of the long range construction plans. A new gymnasium, cafeteria, the renovation of William Mercer Green Hall into modern classrooms and offices, and the final touch of landscaping. These will all be a part of the future planned for the school.

This year brought only the beginning of the future; this year was the cornerstone of the future All Saints'.

The Year of Moving and

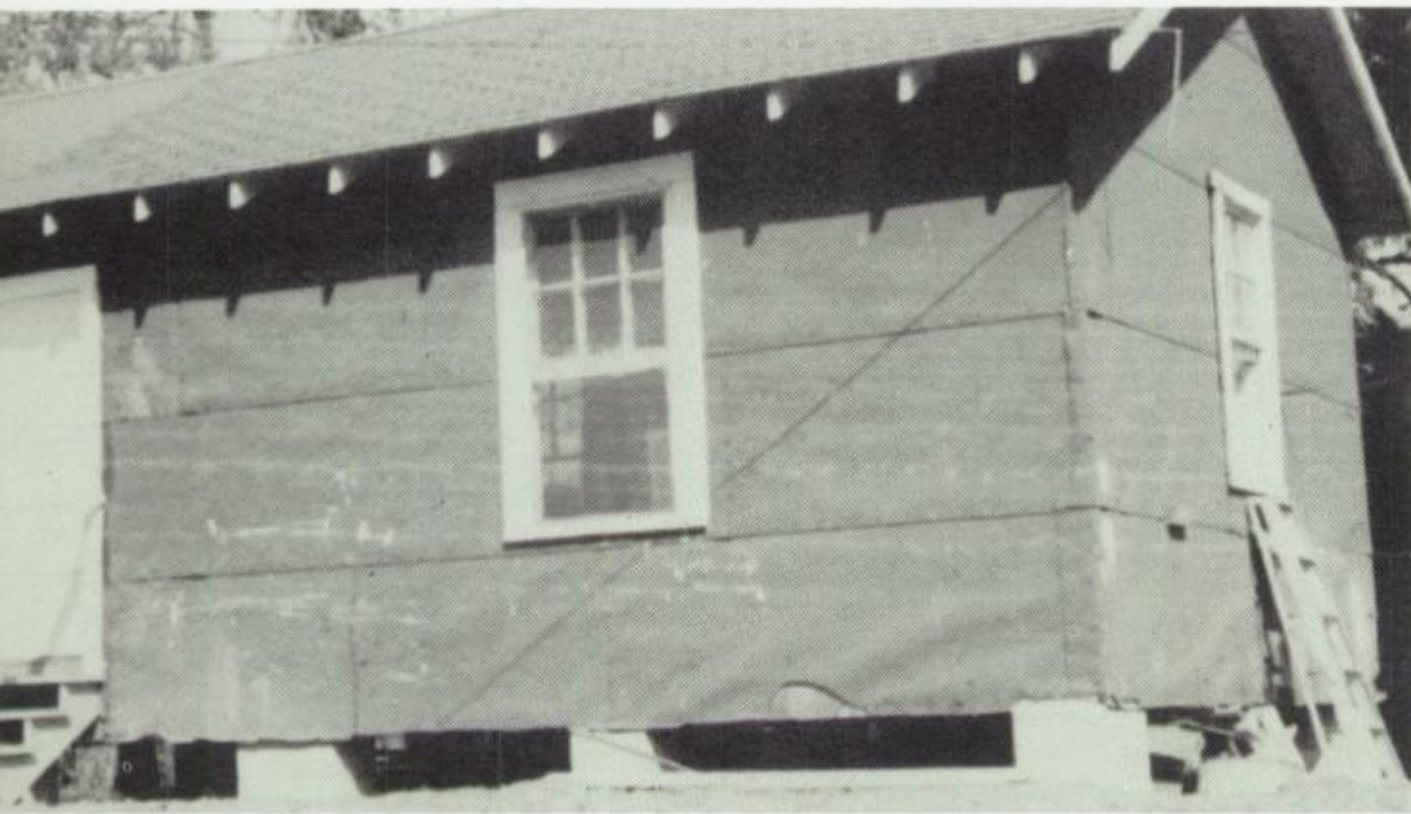

The school year 1963-64 was a transition year for All Saints'. It marked an end to impatient waiting to live in the new dormitories and a beginning for even greater expansion and renovation. Because of the building program classrooms became even more crowded, science facilities, more inadequate. The recreation area, after the destruction of the playhouse could, at best, be called only makeshift. Yet the discomforts and upheavals of moving did not matter because, in the long view, they were contributions to the improvement of All Saints'.

Makeshift . . .

This year brought a change in the academic qualifications and expectations of the school. As admission requirements became higher, so did the amount and difficulty of the work expected show a similar increase. Reading was especially emphasized. Perhaps the most typical outward indication of the new policy, aside from groans on the part of the students, was the large number of paperback books found in the halls and rooms. Advanced classes were set up for the first time this year, longer study hours went into effect, and were promptly put to use, emphasis was placed on reading and research outside of class. This was the beginning of a greater era of academic progress.

of Spiritual Growth

Life at All Saints' is centered around worship. In the traditional forms of worship of the Anglican Communion is found comfort and inspiration. From the solemn celebration of the Holy Eucharist to the ritual of Evening Prayer comes a solid foundation and basis for all things.

The Year of Togetherness . . .

This was the year of togetherness at All Saints': of water fights, hootenannies, dates, dances, bull sessions, bridge, roommates, studies, senior raids, corporate worship in chapel; of confidences and rebellion, of shared opinions, shared thoughts, shared joy, and shared grief. It is this spirit that makes All Saints' worthwhile.

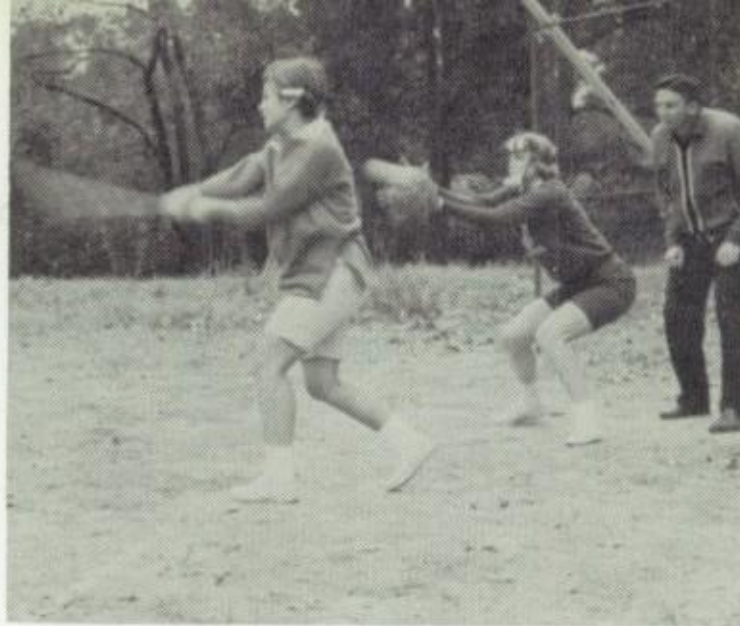

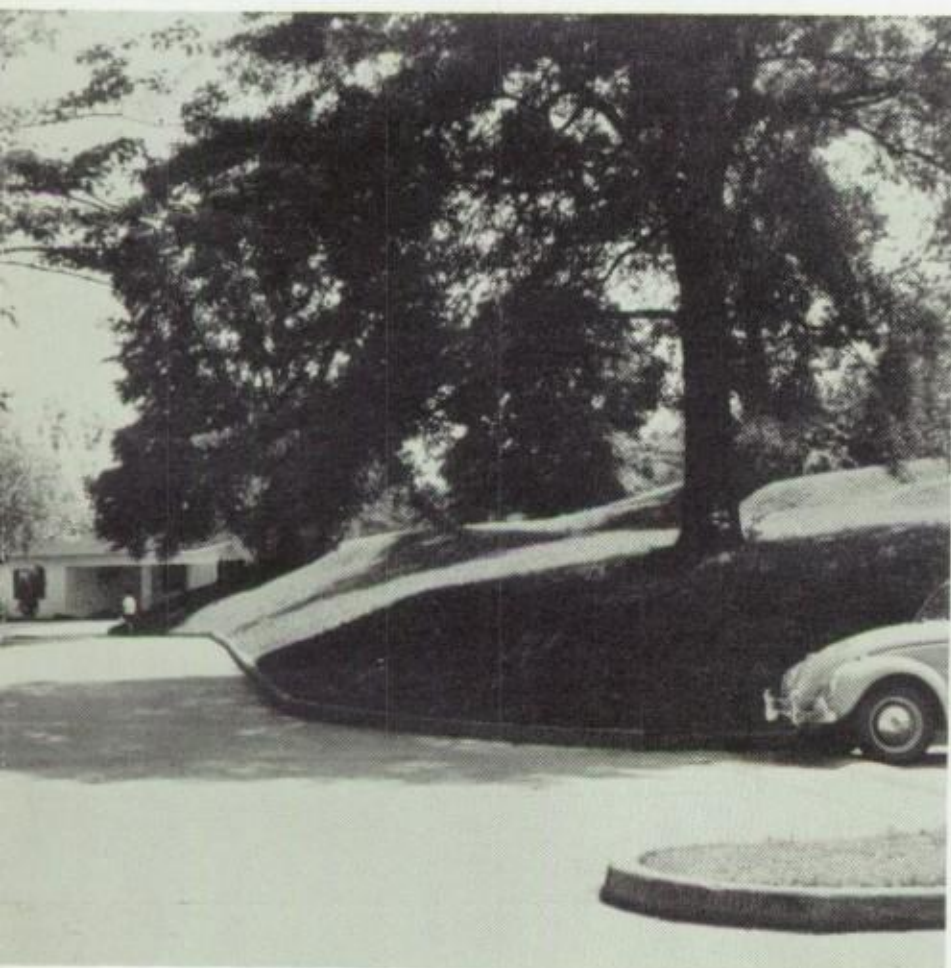

Here at All Saints' there are many kinds of loneliness: the loneliness of a new student, the loneliness that can exist even in a crowd of people, and the loneliness of striking out in a crucial game, the loneliness of a date-less weekend, the inherent loneliness of study, and the final and irrevocable loneliness of being a separate person. This loneliness is often desirable, for we can grow only through experiencing some loneliness.

The

Year of Loneliness

For Some,

The Year of Departing

For some at All Saints' this year marked both an end and a beginning. For the seniors this was the year of departing with mixed emotions—relief at finally having made it, expectations for the year to come, chagrin at having to leave before new plans for the school were put into effect, a sense of this being "the last," and a sadness at having to leave friends, classmates, teachers, familiar places, and the security that All Saints' has provided.

MISS BETTY BERNICE WELLS

Dedication

A dedication should be not only a tribute to hard and devoted labor, but also a tribute to the personality and characteristics which the person concerned displays. It is for these reasons that the ANGELS' RECORD staff would like to dedicate the 1964 edition of ANGELS' RECORD to Miss Betty Wells. For the years of work she has given to All Saints', in sincere admiration for her ability to do any job well (including the position of rector pro-tem), and for her friendliness, warmth, and ready assistance we give her our heartfelt thanks.

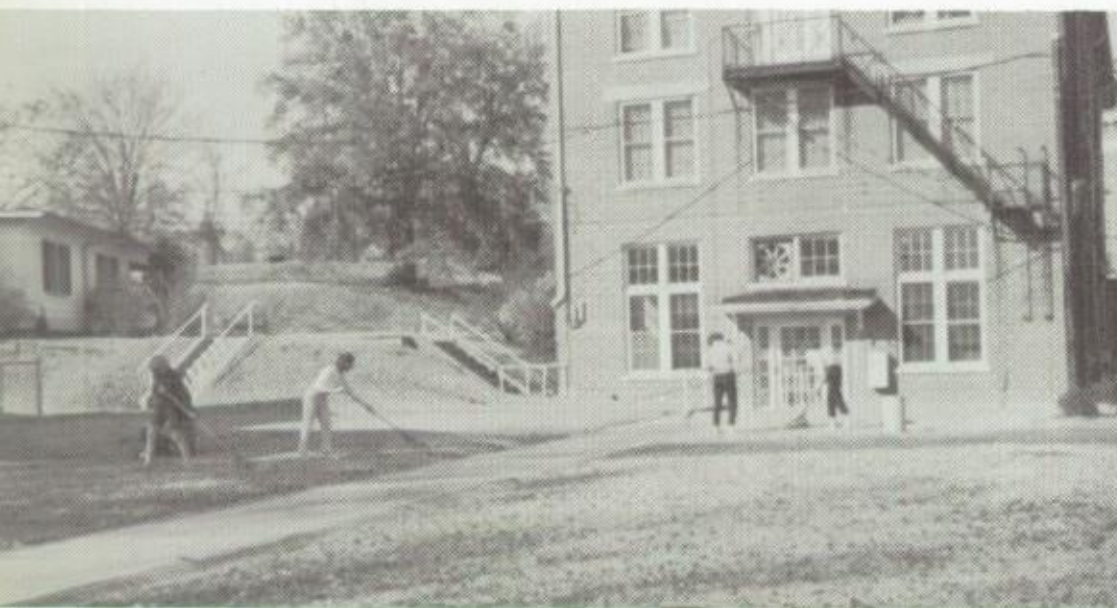

"You don't really mean dogs aren't allowed in the new dorms!"

"We use the blade that shaved fifteen barbers."

"This is the way we rake the leaves, rake the leaves . . ."

"Parkerson, you're a cheat!"

"Modern dance class"

"I was right there when the earth startled trembling."

Rector

The Rector of All Saints' acts as father and friend to some 130 girls for nine months of the year. Father Jenkins is one of those rare men who can manage to do so. To the students he is a shoulder to cry on, a badminton racket, a perpetual traveler and fund-raiser, a pair of black canvas sneakers (in the spring), a question answering service, understanding manner and smile, and an optimistic and dynamic outlook. For these things and all the other less obvious reasons, we will always remember him.

There are many facets to the operation of an institution like All Saints. Books, teachers, classrooms and even dormitories alone do not make a school. Correspondence, the processing of admissions, the issuing of transcripts, the management of the business operations, meal planning, banking, bookkeeping, cleaning, medical care, and maintenance all require many hours and much cooperation from the administrative staff. It is comforting to know that the affairs of All Saints' rest in capable hands.

Administration

Counselors

Dormitory and social life at All Saints' is efficiently handled by a staff of devoted counselors. These counselors have one of the most responsible and occasionally one of the most thankless of positions. Fortunately, these ladies manage to overcome the natural limitations of such a position and become part of a close-knit dormitory group bound by similar interests and experiences. The students will long remember their many contributions and the time that they have selflessly devoted to their girls.

CLASSES

Carla Welliver, Vice-president; Ruthie Paterson, Treasurer; Anne Riley, President; Gail Sweitzer, Secretary.

Senior Class

A senior class at All Saints' has many advantages. It is usually the largest and most responsible class, has the most prestige and privileges, and has the added advantage of fully experienced class members.

A senior class also has many difficulties. Because its members are considered to be the most responsible, they have many capacities to fill. Seniors must provide capable leadership for organizations, must form a solid basis for school loyalty and spirit among the underclassmen, and serve as examples, advisors, and quiet disciplinarians for the other students.

It has been the goal of the senior class of 1964 to use their advantages primarily in order to meet their obligations, and the members of the class have worked toward that end throughout the year.

Junior Class

Water dripping through the ceiling of Green Hall from the water fights on 2nd floor, fire alarms at 3:00 A.M. during tests, food raids in the middle of the night—these are all evidences of the presence of the junior class of 1964.

Sometimes lazy, often enthusiastic, usually loud, always laughing, the juniors possess boundless stores of imagination and talent that somehow always manages to come through.

The juniors, with their uncanny ability to sell donuts at atrocious prices and to avoid work, show tremendous potential and already have big plans for their senior year.

Sophomore Class

The sophomore class of '63-'64 was full of the spirit which will carry us throughout our high school years. There are many girls from many different places. Each and every member of the class adds memories that we will always keep. In a class there are many responsibilities to be carried out. This year the members of the sophomore class have tried to meet their obligations in every project. The class took part in the annual Hallowe'en carnival, gave a spaghetti supper and dance, and attempted a cake sale. All these projects were instigated in an effort to reach our goal, a weekend class trip to New Orleans.

Freshmen

The freshman class of any school is relatively disregarded because of its size and the youth of its members. This is not true of the freshman class of 1964. Though it is the smallest of all the classes at All Saints', the members have been actively involved in all phases of class life at the school, have upheld the traditional school spirit, have labored for their class, and have contributed in countless other ways to All Saints'.

ORGANIZATIONS

Beth Eichold, President

Student Council

Ten enthusiastic and hardworking girls encouraged cooperation and participation within the student body, causing one hundred and thirty-five girls to have a happy and profitable year. Inspired by the guidance of the Student Life Committee and with its efforts supported by the school community, the council served and represented their classmates through various projects from the giving of three formal dances to aiding in governmental problems, all contributing to a successful year.

Altar Guild

Altar guild members perform many important services in the program of worship at All Saints'. St. Martha's Guild is responsible for the care of the altar, its vessels, and its ornaments. The members of St. Mary's Guild provide acolytes for chapel worship, serving the priest at the altar in celebrations of the Holy Eucharist and lighting the candles for all services. These guilds provide valuable training for students who are interested in greater knowledge of the Liturgy of the Church.

Scholars Nesom and Thomas.

Beta Club

The All Saints' chapter of the National Beta Club has become increasingly active as the year has progressed. Through its projects our Beta Club strives to reach some of the national club standards—honesty integrity, leadership, service, and scholastic achievement.

The three major projects for this year are a student handbook to be sent to new students before their arrival, sponsorship of the spring lecture series, and tutorial assistance.

Seated: Halsell, Kirby, Holden, Huck. Standing: Fitzgerald, Wickstrom, Welliver, Gorder, Jackson, Paterson, Nobles, Snyder, Downer, Sweitzer.

Choir

Religious music at All Saints' is provided by the A Cappella Choir, whose members are selected from the student body. This group is composed of thirty-three girls who practice twice weekly.

The A Cappella Choir sings in chapel each evening and makes tours to various cities in the three owning dioceses and the surrounding area.

The choir becomes acquainted with several anthems and a great variety of hymns and canticles from the 1940 Hymnal. Under the leadership of Miss Wells the girls of the choir remain one of the best advertisements for All Saints'.

Scene from "Eight Women and a Ghost."

Drama Club

For those who love grease paint, costumes, bright lights and memorization, the drama club is the ideal activity. In this organization members learn basic techniques of acting, directing, lighting, and working with props and stage effects. During the year the members also put on productions which give them an opportunity to "tread the boards" publicly and also provide entertainment for the student body.

Library Club

Shelving and checking books, being in charge of study halls, handling the cataloguing of new books, taking inventories, and gleefully collecting fines are among the various duties of students in the All Saints' library club. Besides such mundane labors, the members have also enjoyed trips to Jackson and Natchez and several outings at the home of Mrs. Josephine Alexander, sponsor and librarian.

Jo Dale Hill, Waiting on Will.

Riding Club

The riding club is an organization of girls at All Saints' who take part in the school's riding program. The main events sponsored by the riding club are the Angel-Devil riding tournament and the spring horse show. Recreational activities include a hayride and a cookout. Along with the carefully planned fun go the tears and laughter of improving equestrian abilities.

Roberts, Turner, Paterson, Kirby, Holden, Jackson, Gunn, Jordy, Snyder, Corker, Huck, Nesom.

Saints Sixteen

The Saints' Sixteen, or Quadruple Quartet, is a group of girls who specialize in singing popular songs. The Saints' have provided entertainment for the student body, and for several august groups in the Vicksburg area. Under the capable direction of Miss Betty Wells the Saints' Sixteen represent the very best in vocal talent and training at All Saints'.

Seated: Chandler Barham. Standing: Barbara Gay, and Capri McCaleb.

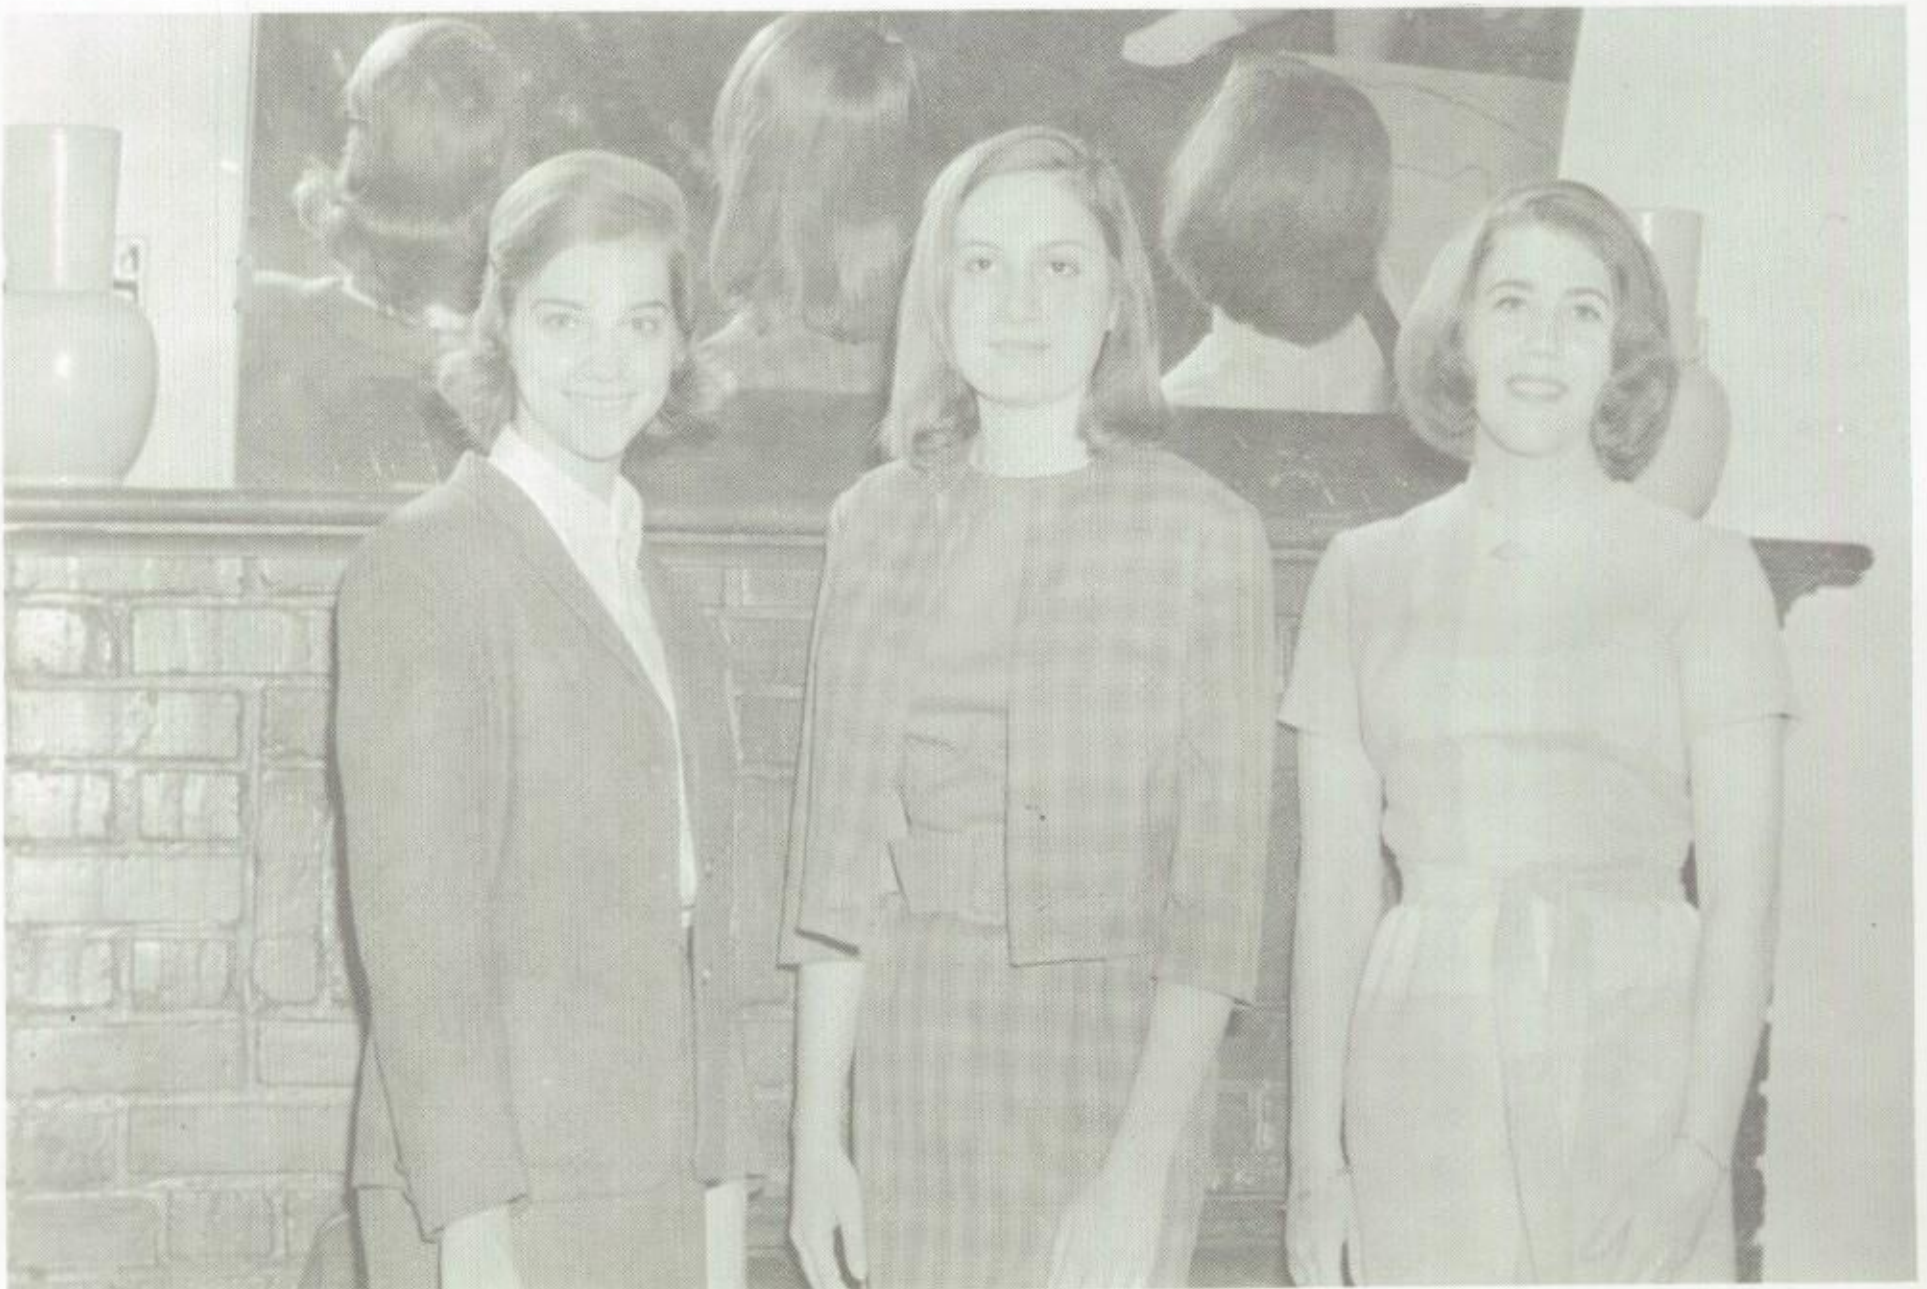

Thespians

The Thespian Society is a national honorary society devoted to the advancement of dramatic arts on the secondary school. Membership in the club is decided on a point system. An individual strives for a total of ten Thespian points which represent one-hundred hours' participation in the areas of stage performance, backstage work, or public speaking.

In the spring, the new members are announced at an assembly and a short initiation ceremony is held. Each member receives a year's subscription to Dramatics, and the honor of public recognition.

The Thespians wish to express appreciation to their sponsor, Mrs. Maree Calcote, whose diligence and encouragement made possible this year's Thespian production, "Overtones."

Saints' Scratches is the student newspaper of All Saints'. It is written and published by a staff of students with the aid of a faculty advisor. Saints' Scratches gives students an opportunity to learn about journalism and practical writing. It reports events of school life and offers a medium for the expression of creative writing talents among the students. This year Saints' Scratches has included, aside from its usual writeups, a series of clever caricatures of faculty members and student types capably drawn by Dottie Thomas, Editor.

Happiness is a warm puppy. The ANGELS' RECORD is long hours, confusion, lost pictures, patience and lack of it, screams of exasperation, missed deadlines, and chiding letters from Mr. Benson. All of these seem to be necessary to produce anything vaguely resembling a yearbook. In spite of these trials and tribulations the ANGELS' RECORD survives, and the 1964 edition is, we feel, the best we can make it.

Devil Team

Distinguished by the colors black and red, the Devil team is a hard working unit which has held supremacy over the Angels for the last two years. Known for their spirit of concord and determination, the Devils provide hard and unholy competition for the Angels in any activity. The Devils of 1963-64 are led by Toni Salmen, Captain and Merrilee Wickstrom, Co-captain and seem to be working hard to make it three in a row.

Wickstrom, Co-captain, Miss Wells, Sponsor, and Salmen, Captain.

Angel Team

Cutler, Co-captain, Fr. Wood, Sponsor, Butler, Captain.

The Angel team is a partially holy group which strives to make itself the best at All Saints'. Characterized by a fine sportsmanship which can face either defeat or victory the Angel team spirit is probably best expressed in its motto, "The will to win cannot be beat!"

Devil Sports

For the last two years the Devils have been noted for their strength and agility in sports. This year proved no exception, as the Devils slugged their way to victory in softball and defeated the Angels again in the "A" team volleyball game. Going into the final test of field day the Devils nonetheless were slightly behind the Angels, but working diligently to capture the honors of the day for the third consecutive year.

Angel Sports

For the first time in several years the Angels have kept the competition in regular season athletics extremely close. Edged by the Devils in a hot softball game the Angels roared back to take the "B" team volleyball game and to win basketball. This year's addition of riding competition saw another Angel victory to give them a slight lead as field day competition approached.

Letter Club

The letter club is an honor organization made up of outstanding athletes from both the Angel and Devil teams. It is an honor due only to those who are able to maintain the high standards of this organization. The purpose is to promote an accumulating interest in athletics, better sportsmanship, good team spirit, and leadership.

In the spring at the end of field day, Mrs. Beanland, the sponsor, selects members of the student body who have proven their capability to meet necessary requirements. These requirements consist of lettering in three major sports, one major sport and two minor sports, or two major sports and one minor sport. Participation and cooperation throughout the year are also helpful in this selection.

Throughout the year the letter club, under the leadership of Marjorie Morgan, President, and Capri McCaleb, Secretary, has strived to achieve the best possible attitude toward sports and physical fitness at All Saints'.

Letter Club President, Marjorie Morgan.

Acknowledgments

We, the staff of the 1964 ANGELS' RECORD, would like to acknowledge the following people:

Karl's House of Photography for their cooperation in making our pictures.

Mr. W. A. Benson, Jr., who was patient and long-suffering as always.

The students, for giving up their time for pictures.

I, the Editor, would like to thank Wix, for her moral support, loud voice, sarcasm, and ability to pinpoint senior personalities.

Nora, for clever quips, companionship, help through those chaotic hours, and for signing me out.

Father Wood, for being organized, for screaming at me, and for doing far too much of the work.

As a yearbook editor, wouldn't you like—

✓ complete creative art assistance in planning and designing your book

✓ actual known production performances (by records) of substantially less than 10 weeks, as required by most yearbook manufacturers. No contract claims, either, of an additional 4 days on delivery for each 1 day any deadline is missed

✓ an association with a firm who has specialized in designing yearbooks perhaps longer than any other company

✓ our insistence of your reading and checking page proofs to avoid (or at least minimize) possible glaring errors in the completed edition

✓ an all out effort to please you in design, quality, and service at competitive prices

What more could you ask?
